

Acts 27–28 sea voyage from Caesarea to Rome, with shipwreck in Malta

- Ship bound for Adramyttium
- Grain ship of Alexandria
- False storm path (to Mljet)
- Storm path (to Malta)
- Resumption of Paul's journey from Malta to Rome

Acts 27:27: "as we were driven (by the storm) up (north) and down (south) in the Adriatic..."

In the 1st centuries BCE/CE, the Ionian Sea was also called the Adriatic as recorded by Josephus, Paul, Strabo, Ptolemy, & Pausanias.

